

February 2021

Audio Processing Patent Offering

Notice & Disclaimer

This document was prepared for the limited purpose of enabling interested third parties to evaluate patent assets offered for sale or license by Knowles Electronics, LLC and its affiliates (Knowles). The offer is non-binding. Knowles reserves the right to update this presentation or withdraw the offer at its discretion.

The patents ultimately offered may differ from assets identified on the appended list due to legal or regulatory decisions, inaccuracies, or other reasons.

Any description of the relevance, applicability or potential use of the patents is neither intended to, nor should be, construed as notice or an accusation of infringement.

Knowles believes that the information contained in this presentation is accurate, but potential buyers are ultimately responsible for assessing the market and exercising due diligence. Knowles makes no representation or warranty regarding the accuracy of any statements herein, including the descriptions of the patents, the validity of the patents, or non-infringement of third party rights resulting from working the patents.

This offer shall not be relied upon as a representation of any past, present or future performance of Knowles.

Portfolio Overview

The audio processing patents pertain to technologies that enhance voice quality, reduce noise and improve user experience, with applicability to mobile and portable devices, wearables, smart speakers and Internet of Things among other consumer, commercial and military audio and voice-interface applications.

Technologies include noise reduction, cross-talk & echo cancellation, speech enhancement & restoration, sound localization & beamforming and speech recognition, among others.

105 patents including 94 families, 92 US assets and 13 non-US assets.

Limited encumbrances.

All assets currently assigned to Knowles.

Conditions

Listed patents available for sale or license are subject to retention of certain rights by Knowles.

Knowles will consider offers on the entire portfolio or select families.

Acquisition of patents or rights therein is contingent on execution of Knowles' sale or license agreement.

Knowles will discuss valuation and encumbrances with qualified buyers under a confidentiality agreement.

All inquiries are confidential.

Other conditions may apply.

Contact

Roland K. Bowler II
IP Counsel

Knowles Electronics, LLC
1151 Maplewood Drive
Itasca, Illinois 60143
847-421-7214
Roland.Bowler@Knowles.com

THANK YOU